

- The system must display as complete an indication as possible of the state of the rooms in the house.
- The interface should allow control of each individual component, each individual room, each individual floor and the entire house.
- The interface should allow control of each individual component, each individual room, each individual floor and the entire house.
- Setting parameters for blinds: open, middle or closed.
Determining parameters for the glass: variable in percentages.
- Variable parameter for the lighting intensity in the room.
- Setting a one-time timer for devices at home.
- Defining different preset modes for the home devices.